The Damnoen Saduk is one of the most popular floating markets in Thailand much visited even by the locals. You will ride on a local longtail boat up the river towards the floating market which is opened only in the morning and is lined with boats of fruits, vegetables, souvenirs, flowers, and so on, creating a myriad of colours, activities and sounds. Buy a local fruit from your boat. You will then be brought to the adjacent Railway Market named Talad Rom at Maekhlung station, made world famous by videos on Youtube. You will get to watch the train pass by the market while vendors scramble to secure their stalls and standby to reopen once the train has passed, all within just minutes. A most unique sight and experience and you should not miss it.

You can opt to eat lunch (not included in package) at this market as there are many eateries serving yummy local Thai food.
